

Course content:

This programme is designed for creative, energetic students interested in improving their communicative skills, via the expressive medium of video.

The two parts of the course will be comprised of the following:

The first part of the course will review the language and skills of presentation, including such elements as using voice effectively, writing for the spoken word, appropriate phraseology, and body language. Students will film their presentations as well as review those of their team. During the latter half, the focus will turn to how video can be exploited as a creative, interactive process, with students working together on a group project aimed toward a short film production.

Evaluation:

Students will be assessed on their active participation and productivity. Written work will be corrected. Presentations will be reviewed in-group, and language points analysed. For the video projects, personal initiative, investment in effort and time, and a sense of responsibility will also be expected.