

Netflix and Beyond

John Hatem

Levels B1 –C2

This course is designed to look at the evolution of media from classic films to Netflix series. Analyzing press articles, media archives and new TV series and cinema, students will consider how film and TV influence one another and how viewers in our post-networked world view and experience new media.

Autonomy project: Inspired from their own media experience, students will create a 2-3 minute film in small groups to be presented to the whole group.

Evaluation: Active participation, oral and written work and autonomy project.